ULTIMATE FITNESS STARTUP

MyGym
LONDON

Every big thing starts small

A small gym for the local community, where every member gets real support from their first session.

EMAIL: info@mygymlondon.co.uk
INSTAGRAM: @mygym_london

ABOUT US

MyGym London opened on 7 February 2024 on Main Avenue in Bush Hill Park, Enfield, in partnership with Bush Hill Park Primary School. Our manager and trainer, Pedro, has taught over 10,000 fitness classes.

We wanted a place for people who want to train but don't feel comfortable in a big, crowded gym. It's a small studio where members know each other, coaches know you by name, and new faces are welcomed from their first visit.

Classes are capped at 12 people, so your coach can check your form and adjust the session for you. We provide workout and meal plans and follow up on your progress, even if you're not a personal training client.

We help you through the first weeks, when starting is hardest, and quieter hours give you more privacy to train. Our aim is to raise the standard of what a gym gives its members, and that starts with how you feel when you walk through the door.

FITNESS PHILOSOPHY

Your journey, your pace

OUR APPROACH TO FITNESS

Start with the whole picture.
A fitness assessment and questions on your lifestyle, diet, health and goals.

Build around the person.
Your training matches your level and what you need.

Progress step by step.
As you get fitter and more confident, we raise the challenge.

CORE PRINCIPLES

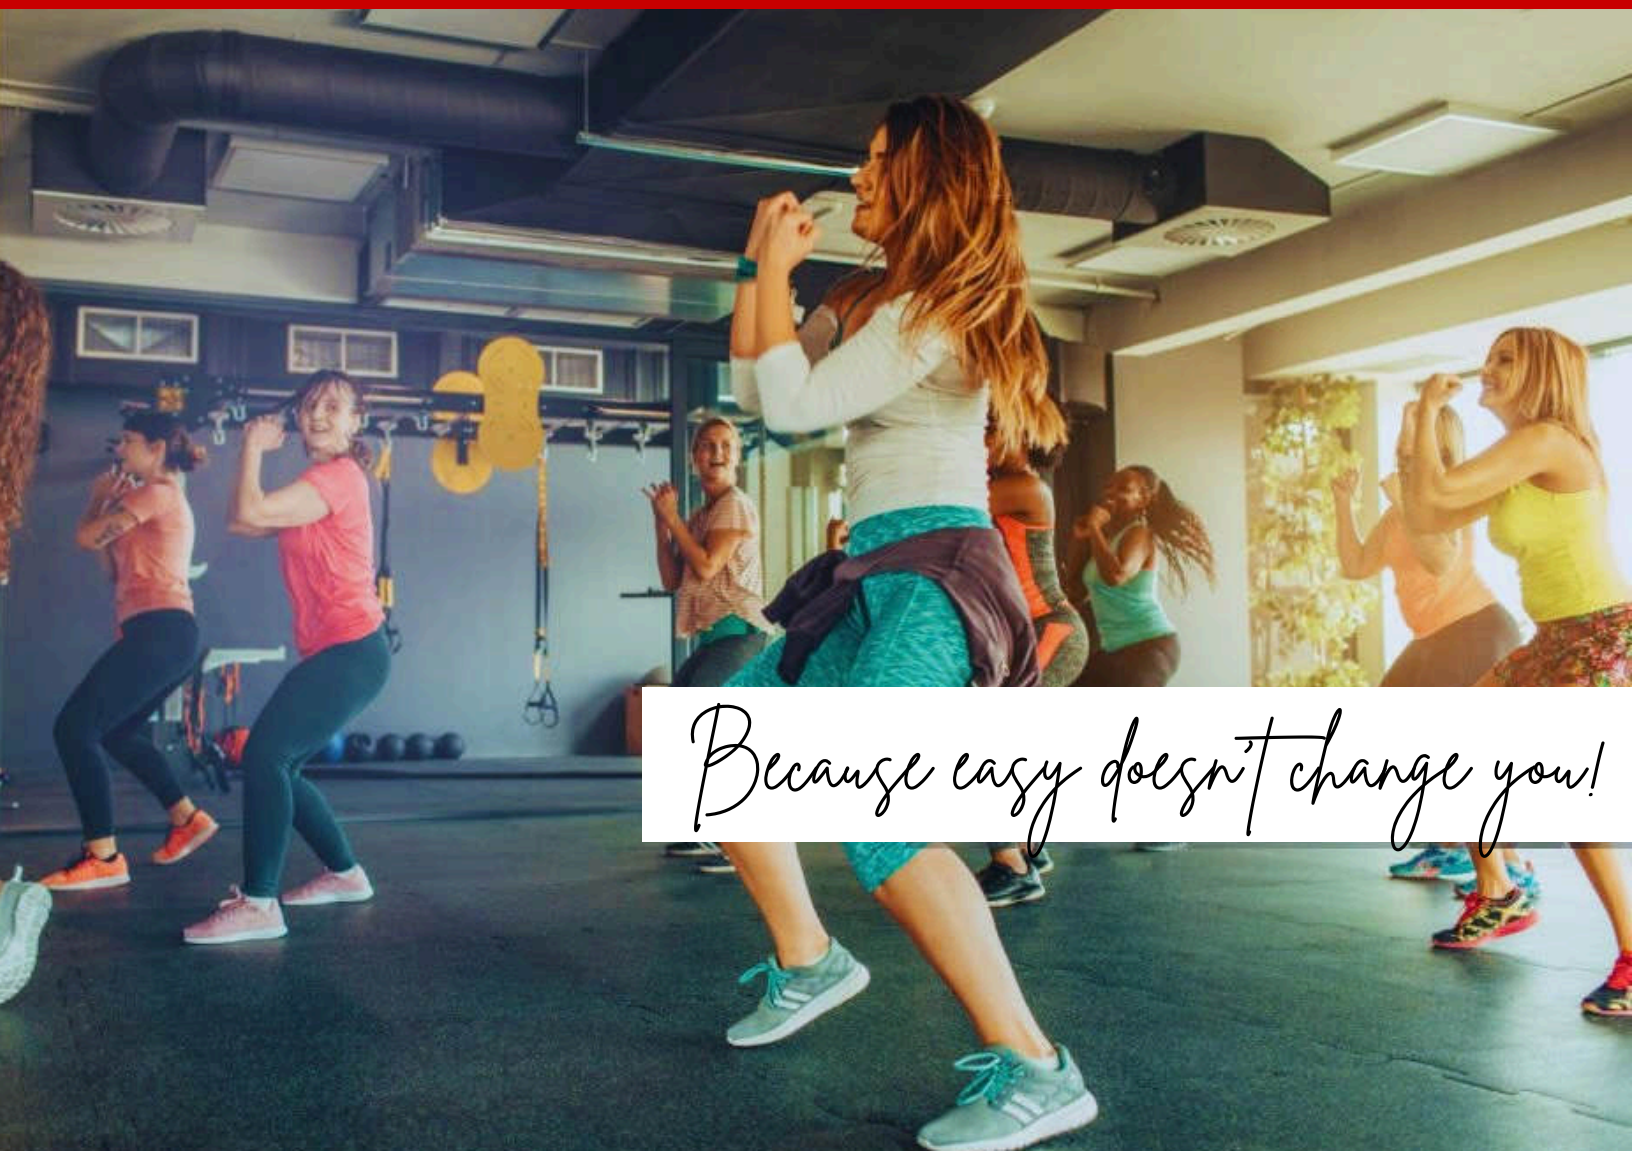

One standard for everyone.
Every member gets the same care and attention, whatever their level.

More support where it counts.
Beginners need the most help, so they get it.

Coaching done properly.
Clear instruction, correct technique and regular check-ins, in every session.

BENEFITS OF DOING A FITNESS CLASS OR HAVING A COACH

- Accountability That Keeps You Showing Up. Having someone check in on your progress gives you a powerful push to stay consistent, even when motivation dips.
- Efficiency That Saves You Time. A trainer cuts out the guesswork and gives you clear direction, so you can focus your energy and get results faster.
- Support and Encouragement When You Need It Most. Whether you're feeling stuck or celebrating a small win, a good trainer is your personal cheerleader and coach.
- Education You Can Use for Life. You'll learn how to structure workouts, listen to your body, and make better nutrition and fitness decisions on your own.
- Mental Strength + Confidence Boost. Fitness isn't just physical; getting stronger, more capable, and more disciplined carries into every part of your life.
- Personalised Workouts Just for You. A trainer designs a programme based on your goals, fitness level, body type, and lifestyle, with no one-size-fits-all plans.

MEET
MANAGER & TRAINER

PEDRO

EMAIL: info@mygymlondon.co.uk
INSTAGRAM: @pedroneves.pt

I've played sport all my life, starting with basketball when I was growing up. I've been training people for 10 years, one to one and in groups, and I've taught over 10,000 fitness classes.

I'm a Level 3 Personal Trainer, a Level 1 Nutrition and Weight Management Adviser and a Sports Conditioning Coach. I specialise in weight loss, strength and muscle building, boxing, calisthenics, cardio and flexibility.

It doesn't matter if you're already fit or haven't trained in years. I want to help you feel stronger and more confident, and I'll coach you every step of the way.

Let's build something amazing!

MEET YOUR TRAINERS

Nevena
Pilates Instructor

James
Strength Coach

Hash
Strength Coach

WHAT TO EXPECT

1

PERSONALISED PROGRAMMING

Your coach builds a programme around your level, your health and the goals you set together.

2

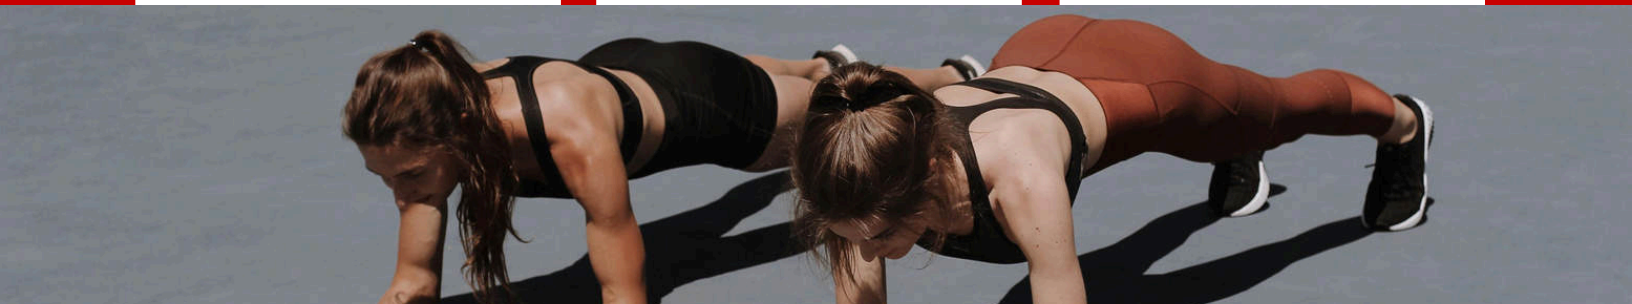

CORRECT EXERCISE TECHNIQUE

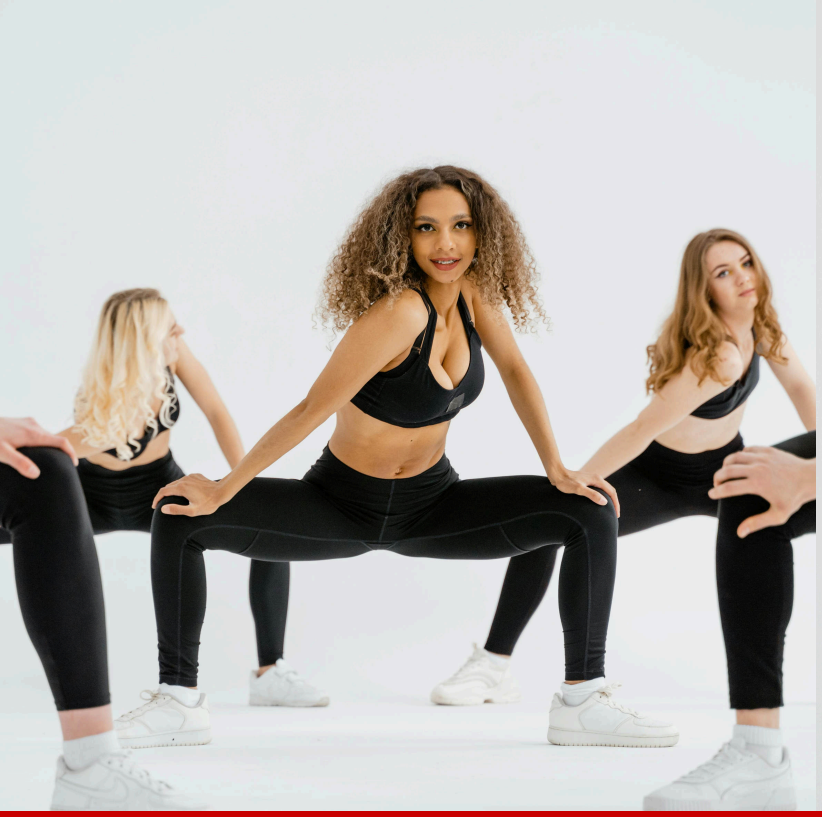

You'll learn how each exercise should feel, and your coach will check your form as you go.

3

MOTIVATION THAT LASTS

A booked session is a promise to yourself, and someone is expecting you to turn up.

WHAT WE WILL PROVIDE

1. A fitness assessment when you join, covering your lifestyle, diet, health and goals.
2. A workout plan built around your level, with a meal plan to match.
3. Classes capped at 12 people, so a coach can see and correct your form.
4. Follow-ups on your progress, even if you're not a personal training client.
5. Extra support in your first weeks, when starting is hardest.
6. Quieter hours if you'd rather train with more privacy.

WHAT WE EXPECT FROM YOU

Turn up to the sessions you book, and let us know if you can't make one. Be honest with your coach about how you feel, any pain or injury, and what's getting in the way. Then give the plan four to six weeks before you judge the results.

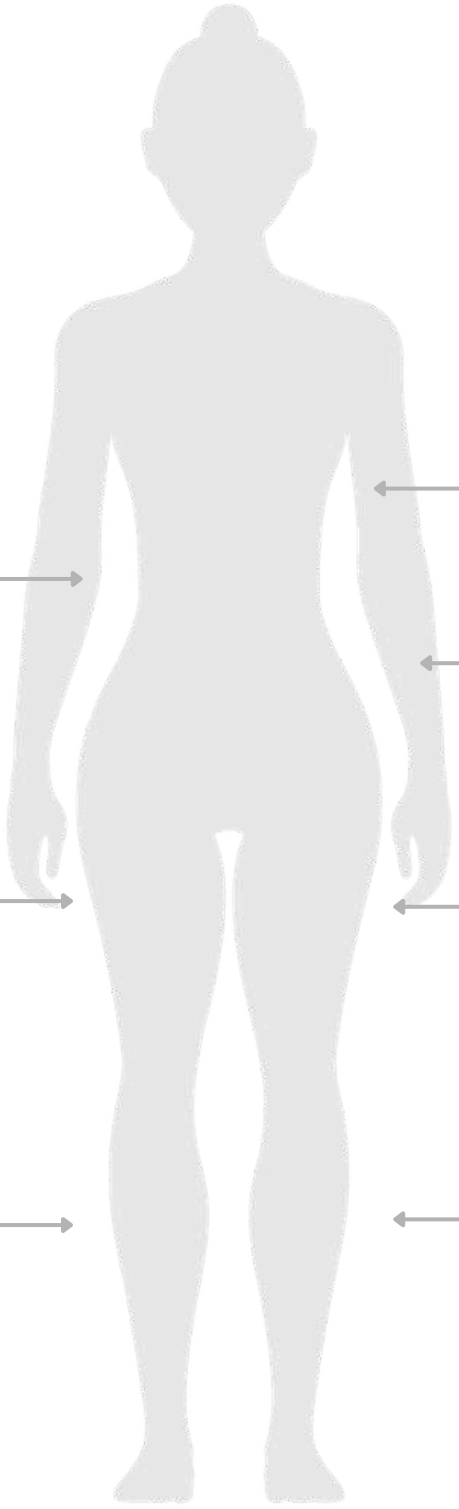

GETTING STARTED CHECKLIST

- [ ] Read through this first part of the ebook.
- [ ] Take your starting body measurements and weight.
- [ ] Set a clear fitness goal for the next 4–6 weeks.
- [ ] Choose your class schedule.
- [ ] Show up for your first training day.
- [ ] Complete your first workout and focus on form over perfection.
- [ ] Choose 1–2 healthy habits to focus on in week 1.
- [ ] Set up a way to track your workouts and progress.
- [ ] Celebrate the small win of starting. It's a big deal!
- [ ] Remind yourself: progress takes time.
- [ ] Build consistency, discipline and a new lifestyle.

BODY MEASUREMENT

Date: / / Weight:

LEFT ARM

RIGHT ARM

CHEST

WAIST

HIPS

LEFT THIGH

RIGHT THIGH

LEFT CALF

RIGHT CALF

GOAL SETTING

HABIT BUILDING TIPS

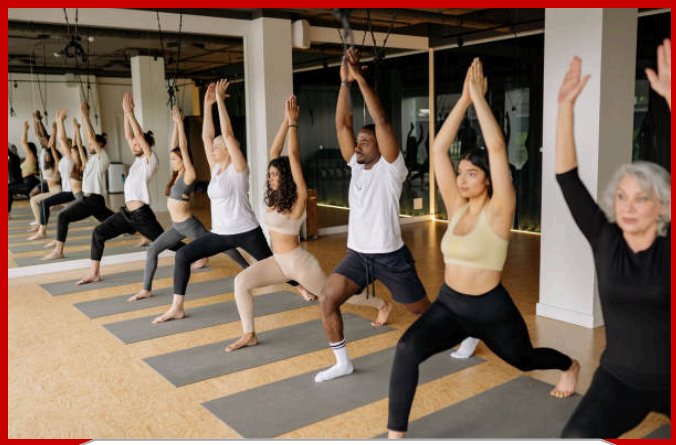

Tie training to something you already do, like after the school run or before work. Start with two or three sessions a week you know you can keep, then add more once it feels easy.

FITNESS MOTIVATION

Motivation comes and goes, so build habits that don't rely on it. Write down why you started and keep it where you'll see it. Small wins count: one more rep, a heavier weight, one more class.

HOW TO STAY CONSISTENT ON HARD DAYS?

Lower the bar, but keep showing up. On a tough day, do a shorter version: ten minutes, one class or a brisk walk. Pack your kit the night before and book your sessions in advance, so the decision is already made. Missing one day is normal. Try not to miss two in a row.

Visualise it. Plan it. Do it.

THE TRUTH ABOUT MOTIVATION

Why showing up beats feeling ready

Most people wait to feel motivated before they train. The trouble is, motivation rarely turns up first. It usually arrives after you've started, often ten minutes into a session you nearly skipped.

That's why we focus on habits. A habit doesn't need you to be in the mood. If your class is Tuesday at 7pm, you go, the same way you brush your teeth without thinking about it.

It's also easier to show up when someone is expecting you. Booking a session, training with a friend or knowing your coach will ask how it went all make it harder to talk yourself out of it.

On days when you've got nothing left, lower the bar instead of skipping. A short session still counts, and it keeps the habit alive until your energy comes back.

> The more you try, the better you get.

CHALLENGE TIMELINE

Every big win starts small!

WEEK 1

FOUNDATION FIRST

This is where you build your base: learning proper form, finding your rhythm, and creating consistency. The focus isn't intensity, it's commitment.

WEEK 2

CONFIDENCE IN MOTION

You're feeling more comfortable with the movements and showing up more consistently. Each workout feels a little stronger, a little smoother, and a little more you.

WEEKS 3-4

STRONGER THAN YESTERDAY

Strength gains, improved energy, and visible progress start to shine. You're lifting heavier, moving with more control, and feeling proud of your dedication.

WEEK 5

MINDSET SHIFT MODE

Fitness is no longer a chore. It's becoming part of who you are. Your confidence grows, not just from your body, but from knowing what you're capable of.

WEEK 6

THIS IS YOUR LIFESTYLE NOW

What once felt new now feels natural. You've built habits, overcome hard days, and created a routine that supports both your body and your life.

Beginner mistakes & how to avoid them

Almost everyone makes these in their first few weeks. Knowing them now will save you sore joints, wasted sessions and a lot of frustration.

Doing too much, too soon

Training hard every day in week one can leave you too sore to train in week two. Start with two or three sessions a week at a level you can manage, then build up. A steady few months beats one heroic week.

Chasing weight before form

Adding weight before you've learned the movement is the quickest route to injury. Start light, ask your coach to check your technique, and only go heavier once your last rep looks as good as your first.

Skipping the warm-up and recovery

Cold muscles and poor sleep make every session harder. Spend five to ten minutes warming up, take your rest days seriously and drink enough water. Recovery is part of the programme, not time off from it.

FITNESS AND MENTAL HEALTH

How moving your body can help calm your mind

Training transcends physical appearance; it is a powerful tool to regulate your nervous system, lower cortisol, and trigger the release of mood-boosting endorphins. Whether it is an intense session or a short walk, physical activity clears mental fog, sharpens cognitive focus, and carves out a dedicated hour that belongs entirely to you.

True consistency is deeply rooted in community and psychological safety. In our small-group environment, training alongside familiar faces provides the built-in accountability you need on days motivation runs low. Beyond the workout itself, our manager and trainer, Pedro, is qualified in exercise referral and specialises in tailoring sessions to match your emotional and physical state. Movement is powerful medicine, and while it works wonders on its own, it is most transformative when paired with compassionate guidance, professional support, and a community that knows your name.

WITH CONSISTENT HARD WORK

GREATNESS WILL COME.

CLIENT TESTIMONIALS

Rated 4.8 out of 5 from 33 reviews on Google

E

EMMA MEADS | GOOGLE REVIEW

★★★★★

"MyGym London is a fantastic place to work out and get fit! It is truly inclusive with an atmosphere where everyone is welcome, irrespective of your fitness level... I love it and when I'm there I feel like I'm part of the MyGym London family."

L

LAUREN BRANT | GOOGLE REVIEW

★★★★★

"I can't thank Pedro enough, the classes are motivating, hard work, but surprisingly fun. A very friendly atmosphere with no judgement, where you are truly pushed to be the best version of yourself."

S

SID HUNTER | GOOGLE REVIEW

★★★★★

"MyGym London is spot on for a proper workout. I used it for a quick lunchtime session, and the kit was tidy, the place well-kept, and the staff genuinely sound. Great value, with a no-nonsense atmosphere that kept me focused."

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Do I need to be fit to start?

No. Our classes are for all ages and abilities, and every new member starts with an assessment. Your coach sets a starting point that suits you and builds from there.

Where are you and when are you open?

Main Avenue, Bush Hill Park, Enfield EN1 1DS. We're open Monday to Friday 7am to 9pm, Saturday 7am to 5pm and Sunday 7am to 4pm.

Do I have to sign a contract?

No contract is needed for pay-as-you-go classes, which start from £6. Monthly and annual memberships are there if you train regularly and want to save.

More questions? info@mygymlondon.co.uk

PRICING GUIDE

DROP-IN

From £6 / class

- ✓ Book any single class
- ✓ No contract needed
- ✓ Yoga and Pilates £7
- ✓ Try your first class free

CLASSES

£26 / month

- ✓ 40+ classes a week
- ✓ Book any class online
- ✓ Classes capped at 12
- ✓ All ages and abilities
- ✓ Workout and meal plans
- ✓ Or £299 a year

ALL ACCESS

£35 / month

- ✓ 40+ classes a week
- ✓ Full gym access
- ✓ Free induction
- ✓ Introductory health check
- ✓ Classes capped at 12
- ✓ Workout and meal plans
- ✓ Progress follow-ups
- ✓ Quieter hours to train
- ✓ Or £400 a year

REMINDER

Personal training starts from £32.50 a session, and your first PT session is free. Prices were correct at the time of writing, so check mygymlondon.co.uk for the latest.

Parts 2 and 3 (workouts, recipes and trackers) are for MyGym members.

WANT THE REST?

Parts 2 and 3 are for MyGym members

PART 2: TRAIN

Your workouts, exercise guides and videos

PART 3: EAT AND TRACK

Nutrition, meal plans, recipes and your trackers

Try a free class and see if MyGym feels like your gym.

www.mygymlondon.co.uk

info@mygymlondon.co.uk | Instagram @mygym_london

Main Avenue, Bush Hill Park, Enfield EN1 1DS